

Ruth Stewart-VergerStoryTellerStoryTeller

Ruth Stewart-Verger was born into a storyTelling family, thus learned her art in self-defense. Her first love is for stories of people, their struggles and their triumphs! She has been commissioned by the Library and Archives of Canada to research and create stories of some of this country's historical heroes. Ruth has been the artistic director and the coordinator of the Ottawa StoryTelling Festival. She coordinates workshops and discussion groups for the Ottawa StoryTellers. Ruth tells stories to a wide range of audiences: from University faculty and alumni, to professional groups, to preschool children. Ruth's repertoire is divergent and eclectic, responding to the different needs of each audience.

<http://www.rasputins.ca/famous.five.htm>

(613) 722 8402

ruth@rasputins.ca

<http://www.rasputins.ca/marieanne.htm>